It's time to put this issue to rest and proceed with the agreed upon settlement. As a business user and a personal user I have always believed that all end users would not be where we are today without the efforts and uniqueness of Microsoft development. I'm not a lawyer so it is possible that Microsoft did go over the legal line with regards to marketing and sales efforts, but competition certainly did not have these same tools to offer. I don't believe that this suit was fair in the first place and it was a "marketing tool" used by competitors to save their businesses and "award" them for not being able to fairly compete with Microsoft. Do not waste my tax money on any more proceedings that do not result in this settlement being completed. The lawyers have had a chance to earn their fees. Our economy and international business communities need to get back on track.

Thank you for allowing me to express my feelings.

Sincerely,
Suzanne Davis
